Army Engineers To Make All-Out Delaware River Survey

Study Will Cover Every Basin Activity

A STUDY of the Delaware River basin now being started by the Army Corps of Engineers will be the "most complete" survey of its kind ever undertaken, Col. John C. H. Lee, Philadelphia Corps office, told Pennsylvania and New Jersey State officials yesterday.

At a meeting in the Headquarters of Incodel (Interstate Commission on the Delaware Basin) in Philadelphia, Col. Lee made the following points:

That the corps survey will cover every phase of activity in the Delaware River valley. Included in its report will be a study of recreation, wildlife, industry and industrial growth, residential areas and water uses.

Corps Limited

In a past survey conducted by the corps, officials were limited in the amount of work they could do and the way in which they could conduct the survey. With present authorization and potential funds, the corps will be able to study every facet of life along the river.

One possibility to be considered in the survey will be the diversion of water from the Susquehanna River basin to the Delaware. This could be accomplished through use of a 10-mile flume or tube connecting the Susquehanna with the Delaware's tributaries.

Another possibility: A ship canal extending across the width of the State of New Jersey at the narrowest point. This would make possible an overland connecting link between the Atlantic and inland points through use of the Delaware River outlet.

Water Availability

The corps study will include not only flood control advantages but water availability and consumer demands along the basin. A detailed study of the costs and related benefits will also be made, he said.

Due to the high interest in both States in some form of flood control, Col. Lee said, it was his opinion that a dam would be built on the Delaware "somewhere between Shawnee and Dingmans Ferry."

There has been no precedent as to national interest in developing this type of dam along a major river, Lee said. With the current survey the Engineers will study the possible supply of water to cities in the lower basin, flow augmentation on the river (see Susquehanna River diversion proposal above) and flood control, he said.

The current study may set a precedent for surveys of this kind for the Corps of Engineers, Lee admitted.

Complete Cooperation

To make the survey possible, he declared, the Corps of Engineers will have to have the complete cooperation of all State groups and officials as well as the residents along the river. The more cooperation the corps gets, the better and more thorough the survey will be, Lee said—and the better the chance for getting a dam built on the river.

In further discussion, Joseph S. Clark Jr., Philadelphia member of the Delaware River Basin Survey Commission, suggested that the two legislative committees from New Jersey and Pennsylvania "press their own studies together."

Develop Legislation

The committees are meeting to try to develop legislation which will make it possible to set up an agency for construction of a dam on the Delaware. The basis for present discussions is some method to allow for Federal participation in the compact between the two States.

Persons attending yesterday's meeting were the following: Clark, Yetter, Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania secretary of forests and waters; Norman Wood, Pennsylvania assemblyman; Francis A. Pitkin, Incodel chairman; W. Brinton Whitall, Clark's administrative assistant; Col. Lee; James H. Allen, Incodel executive secretary; Wesley L. Lance, Wayne Dumont Jr. and C. William Haines, New Jersey legislators; George Shanklin, N. J. Bureau of Water Policy and Supply; Dr. R. M. Darrow, N. J. Dept. of Conservation and Economic Development; Dr. Joseph E. McLean, N. J. Conservation and Development commissioner and Paul D. Falsey, administrative assistant to New Jersey Congressman Thompson.

Yetter Urges $500,000 For Separate Study Of Wallpack Bend, Tocks Island Dam Sites

REP. VAN D. YETTER, D-Monroe, yesterday urged that the Federal government appropriate $500,000 for a separate study of the Tocks Island and Wallpack Bend dam sites along the Delaware River.

Yetter told The Daily Record last night that the appropriation is "urgently needed so that the Army Corps of Engineers will be able to undertake this phase of a Delaware River survey immediately."

Unless such an emergency appropriation is made, Yetter said, the Engineers' decision of the feasibility of dams at either of the two sites may be held up until completion of the full basin survey.

Partial Appropriation

The Corps of Engineers has been given authority and partial appropriation to make a full-scale study of the Delaware. Corps officials have estimated this study will take from three to five years."

Yetter emphasized, however, that the survey of the two sites at Wallpack Bend and at Tocks Island —both below Bushkill in Monroe County—is of prime and immediate importance to plans now being made by Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The two states have entered into an agreement which permits construction of a dam at Wallpack Bend. Yetter is a member of the bi-state legislative commission studying ways to bring about construction of the dam.

The assemblyman said that the Engineers' study of the Delaware will prove of immense and lasting value to the State and to this area. But an early, separate report on the Wallpack Bend and Tocks Island sites would permit the two legislatures to move more quickly and with greater knowledge toward their own eventual construction program.

Employe 'May Have Aided' Jan. 29 Escape

HONESDALE, Pa., Feb. 24 (AP)—The superintendent of Farview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane disclosed today that a hospital employe "may have aided" three dangerous patients in their escape from the Waymart institution last Jan. 29.

Dr. John P. Shovlin told a State Senate Committee investigating security conditions at the hospital that State Welfare Dept. probers are checking the possibility that an employe was involved in the successful escape. Two of the three are still at large.

Dr. Shovlin indicated that the employe—who was not identified—may have supplied one of the escapees with a blank key which was later fashioned to fit into an outside door at the hospital.

Earlier, Dr. Shovlin had disclosed that 26 per cent of the hospital's 1,300 patients were committed after being charged with homicide.

The bi-partisan committee is headed by Senators Hugh J. McMenamin (D—Lackawanna) and William Z. Scott (R—Carbon). The other members are Sens. Anthony J. DiSilvestro (D—Phila); Albert Madigan (R — Bradford); Paul Wagner (R—Schuylkill) and William J. Lane (D—Washington). Only Lane was absent from today's session.

Negroes Walk Streets In Bus Boycott

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 24 (AP)—Shunning rides, Negroes in uncounted numbers walked the streets of Montgomery today to demonstrate their continued protest against segregation on city buses.

They trudged to work through a drizzling rain in response to an appeal from their leaders for a mass 24-hour pilgrimage on foot to prove their willingness to walk if necessary to carry on their 11-week-old bus boycott.

Ninety of them walked to the courthouse for arraignment on antiboycott indictments returned by a grand jury Tuesday. They all pleaded innocent and their trials were set to start March 19.

A court officer said 10 or more warrants are outstanding, bringing the total number of defendants to 100.

Contest Indictments

Defense attorneys at the same time filed demurrers contesting the indictments which charged violation of Alabama's law against "illegal" boycotting. Maximum penalty under the law is six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Circuit Judge Eugene Carter withheld a ruling on the demurrers which said, in effect, that the state has failed to make out a case even if the facts alleged in the indictments are true.

Meanwhile, at the Alabama Capitol, Gov. James E. Folsom won support from a group of newspaper editors and publishers and radio and television broadcasters for a proposed biracial commission to settle differences between the white and Negro races.

Seeks Program

Folsom called the conference to seek a program of resolving racial disputes without violence. Approximately 75 newspapermen and radio and TV broadcasters attended the meeting.

Two of the boycott leaders estimated meanwhile that "thousands" of Negroes walked to work this morning, refusing even to drive their own cars.

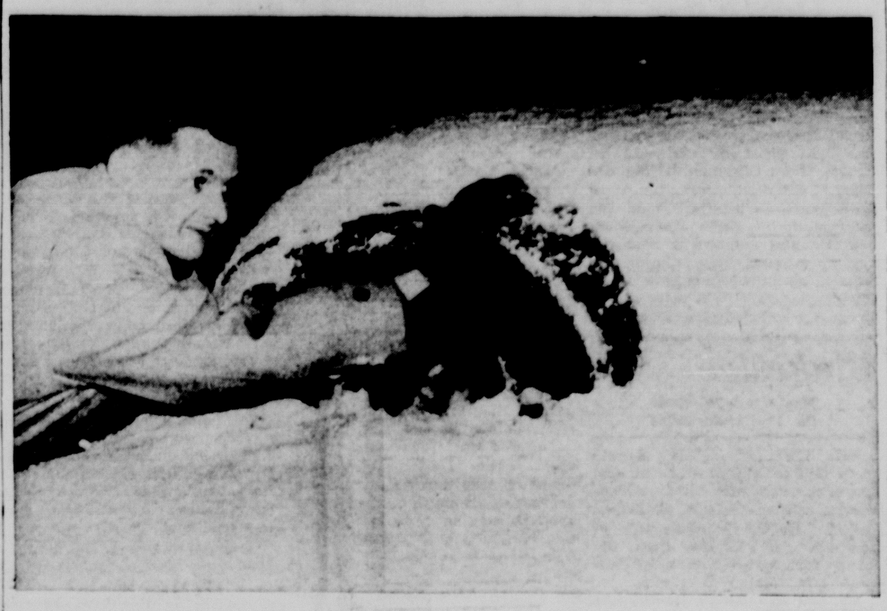

Dust Storm Hits Part Of Texas

DALLAS, Feb. 24 (AP)—The worst dust storm of the season blanketed West Texas today, pushed by winds of gale velocity.

The dust blacked out skies and cut visibility to zera at some places.

At least four persons were killed in traffic crashes in the Southwest as a direct result of the dust. Scores of traffic accidents occurred.

Winds, ranging up to 68 miles per hour, caused a jet airplane to crash, tore shingles off roofs of houses under construction, blew down trees and power lines.

Another Brawl At Republic Despite Ban On Violence

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., Feb. 24 (AP)—Mass picketing and violence were outlawed today in the million-dollar-a-day Republic Aviation Corp. strike—but not in time to prevent a new mob brawl.

State Supreme Court Justice Edgar J. Nathan Jr., granted the company a temporary injunction limiting pickets and forbidding them to interfere with nonstrikers.

Nathan limited to 106 the number of pickets the striking International Assn. of Machinists may station at Republic's four Long Island jet plane and guided missile plants. Hitherto, hundreds have picketed the plants.

56 Pickets Allowed

He allowed the union only 56 pickets at the main plant here. Forty-nine others were allotted to three smaller plants.

Nathan directed that all pickets "conduct themselves peacefully."

For 15 minutes at a hearing yesterday, Nathan watched company movies of picket line violence that has marked the six-day-old wage strike. The union called out 12,000 production workers last Sunday.

The president of the striking union local, Justin Ostro, said "as a reputable and law abiding labor organization we intend to abide by the court's decision. However, Ostro blamed "deliberate provocation by company agents" for 90 per cent of the violent incidents of the strike.

Injunction Too Late

Nathan's injunction came too late to prevent a battle at the main plant here between an estimated 200 pickets and several hundred nonstrikers who tried to get to work by train.

One policeman was injured and there was the usual quota of the bloodied and bruised. Fourteen more persons were arrested to send the total arrests since the strike began over the 120 mark.

Federal mediators invited the company to a Monday meeting, as a prelude to hoped-for resumption of joint negotiations.

Leader Predicts Tax Passage

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24 (AP)—Gov. Leader admitted today he was mindful of an old superstitution but it didn't stop him from predicting passage of a 360 million dollar bipartisan incomes - sales compromise tax in the Senate.

"Things often run in threes," he told his first news conferences for weekly newspapers. "Two previous programs passed by the House failed in the Senate. Perhaps this one—the third will succeed."

Leader told the weekly newspaper editors—with the Capitol press corps on hand to take notes but not to ask questions—that he felt "optimistic" the Senate will take "some positive action" next week on taxes.

Threaten Long, Tough War

ALGIERS, Algeria, Feb. 24 (AP)—Nationalist rebels circulated tracts today claiming they were preparing for a long, tough war to force the French into a defeat as serious as Dien Bien Phu in Indochina.

The tracts were circulated following renewed rebel attacks that French officers admit are becoming more skillful. The pattern of the 16-month-old insurrection is changing, they say.

The tracts were signed by the National Liberation Front, unofficially regarded as representing the rebel organization, and the body to negotiate with "when the conditions for a cease-fire are fulfilled."

Nationalist terrorism continued dead in the past 24 hours. In Oran French settlers countered with a rowdy demonstration that had to be curbed by police tear gas. About 1,500 people attempted to storm government buildings in Oran and stoned security troops. The mob was made up of students and war veterans.

Snow, Rain Fall Here; Roads Slick

THE POCONOS were destined for another white weekend as more than an inch of snow fell over the region last night, followed by a fine rain.

Slippery road conditions kept highway crews on the job throughout the night. At one point, 30 trucks, two graders and about 90 men were trying to make the county's highway system safe for driving.

State Police said road conditions were "bad" last night, and were advising motorists not to drive unless it was necessary.

Million Get Pay Cut On Cost Decline

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The government today announced a slight January decline in the nation's living costs. It was enough to mean a penny-an-hour pay cut for a million workers.

These workers, mainly in the auto and farm equipment manufacturing industries but also including some aircraft production, have their wage rates partly geared by union contract to changes in the government index.

Ewan Clague, labor statistics commissioner, said living costs for February could be expected to change very little, and perhaps will be down slightly.

Wage Cut

General Motors Corp. announced that on the basis of the January decline, wages of its more than half-million workers would be cut one cent an hour beginning with the first pay period after March 1.

Lower prices in grocery stores, caused by the continuing decline in farm prices, and home furnishing bargains in January sales were chiefly responsible for the living cost decline.

Western Firmness Forced Red Change, Secretary Asserts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the Russians are junking a 30-year policy of violence and intolerance and "bringing their system and habits closer to ours."

He took the stand that Moscow while still aiming at world domination, has been forced to make a big change in methods because of the "unity, firmness and determination of the free world."

Dulles made the assertions to an overflow audience at a "back to bipartisanship" hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Defends Tank Shipments

Stoutly defending the recent shipment of 18 light tanks to Saudi Arabia, Dulles gave a generally optimistic review of world affairs—highlighted by his statement that the Soviet Union is developing "at this minute in Moscow" a new "creed."

"They have come to the conclusion," he said, "that our methods are better than theirs. They are trying to play our game. I am sure we can beat them at that game. If we can't, then we ought to be ashamed of ourselves."

"Imitation"

On the whole, Dulles declared, such a shift in Soviet policy—he called it an "imitation" of American methods—stands to benefit the free world. And he said the Kremlin may have set in motion "irresistable forces" that will foment "the yeast of change" in Russia's government.

Several Democrats, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) among them, voiced pointed skepticism both at Dulles' hopeful view of the world situation and at his defense of the Saudi Arabian tank deal.

Dulles' answer, in effect: They were playing politics. He said he can look at the calendar and see what year it is—election year—and suspects a good many other people do the same.

Back On Rails?

So the long-drawn-out session may or may not have justified the announced hope of Chairman George (D-Ga) that it would help get foreign policy bipartisanship back on the rails. But it attracted the most attention and the biggest crowd of any committee session in months.

Dulles made it plain he doesn't think the Soviets have given up their aim of getting the whole world under their thumb. And he said the free nations must guard steadily against a Soviet swing back toward a policy of violence.

The 3¾-hour hearing ended on a not-too-bipartisan note.

Dulles Applauded

Dulles was applauded—for the second time—by a goodly segment of the audience.

But Sen. Morse (D-Ore) asserted the secretary had presented only "a rosy picture of progress" and declared:

"I don't share that optimism at all."

Red Congress Warns Against One-Man Rule

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 (AP)—The 20th Congress of the Communist party today unanimously warned against any attempt to restore one-man rule in the Soviet Union.

It publicly flashed a big red light against any person in the party who might try to take over Stalin's role.

Party boss N. S. Khrushchev and all other top leaders have told the Congress they are devoted to the principle of collective rule. They have disavowed any intention to return to the one-man system.

Meanwhile, former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov's Ministry of Electric Power Stations was sharply criticized by the boss of Soviet state planning for delays in putting new equipment into operation.

"The Ministry of Electric Power Stations is procrastinating too much with putting into operation new equipment and electric stations," Deputy Prime Minister Maxim Saburov wrote in an article for the Soviet press. "Because of this, one million tons extra of fuel, in conventional terms, are consumed annually at high pressure electric stations alone."

Drive To Chop Out Rigid Price Supports

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP) — Opponents of the rigid farm price supports which were tacked on to the new billion-dollar soil bank program opened a drive in the Senate today to chop them out.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), senior GOP member of the Agriculture Committee and a supporter of the administration's flexible and lower farm price props, led the attack.

"High rigid supports never have brought prosperity to the American farmer and never will," Aiken told the Senate. "This line of reasoning is completely false."

He was on the losing side when the Democratic-controlled Agriculture Committee voted 8-7 to replace the present flexible supports with rigid props.

Chairman Ellender (D-La) and other advocates of the mandatory supports have been urging their adoption.

All parties to the farm bill battle concede this will be the key test when the final vote comes, perhaps late next week.

Aiken said he is confident the Senate will continue the flexible supports it first approved in 1954, when the Republicans were in command.

As the price supports debate continued, a proposal to refund some 60 million dollars in federal gas taxes to farmers each year advanced a step.

Reforms On Election Gifts Announced

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Senate leaders announced plans today to reform the election laws in advance of the presidential and congressional campaigns this year.

Majority Leader Johnson (D-tex) said one aim of the legislation is to put political contributions "in a goldfish bowl," for all the voters to see.

He indicated, however, that the bill would apply only to elections, not primary campaigns.

"We're going to have a strong elections bill this session," Johnson said.

Broken Axle Blamed By PRR For Fatal Wreck

ODENTON, Md., Feb. 24 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad said today an axle which unaccountably broke caused the derailment of the Embassy passenger train in which five persons were killed and more than 100 injured.

The 14-car train was speeding at 80 miles per hour over the flatlands between Baltimore and Washington when the accident happened yesterday. Nine cars were derailed. Three of them overturned.

J. A. Schwab, regional manager for Pennsylvania Railroad, said normal lubricating procedures had been followed and no defect in the bearing had been found.

Lenten Meditation

By A Priest of St. Matthew's Catholic Rectory

"I HATE Lent. Boy, do I dispise this period of the year!" Way down inside in that secret area of the soul where we hide our deepest opinions many of us by now are sick of all this fasting, grumbling stomach about 11 O'clock, little spots in front of our eyes about 4:30, and perhaps a headache about 9 in the evening.

Frankly, this fasting, not eating between meals, and giving up of recreation, watching television less, and not smoking can be awfully grating on the nerves even though it is supposed to be good for the soul.

Who started all this business anyway? Why should I be pressured by a Christian society into fasting, abstaining, denying myself at every turn? Who says that you have to fast to be a good Christian? All this business of Lent seems to be an organized attack to promote the sale of fish and to boost the sale of aspirins.

There may be many in our midst in this modern atomic age, who, cut off from their Christian roots are not aware of the love of Christ Jesus and what He means to them in the Stroudsburgs, 1956. I have met leaders of Christian groups who don't know where Lent began, why, or how increased prayer, fasting and self denial can lead the follower of Jesus to a more profound love of Jesus.

It is conceivable that one can be considered a good Catholic without being a Christian. I have met some who are considered good Catholics and aren't Christian.

Thus, Lent was designed to make us (through its practices of daily Mass and Holy Communion, fasting, and stations of the cross) better followers of Christ because we become imitators of Christ.

And Christ, the Saviour is preeminently "the Saviour" on His Cross. Therefore through the imitation of the suffering Christ we best become imitators of Christ, therefore through Lent we come closer to Him. To hate Lent then is hate Christ.

Ike 'Might Be Safer' For Second Term

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower's White House doctor said today that so far as the chief executive's health is concerned he "might be safer" serving a second term than he was before his heart attack.

Howard M. Snyder, said the chief executive "has no guarantee" against another heart attack. And he said he has "no impression as to whether Eisenhower actually will bid for reelection.

"All he can do is trust in God if he goes ahead," Snyder told newsmen just five months to the day after the President's Sept. 24 heart attack in Denver.

19 Die In Crash

DAMASCUS, Syria, Feb. 24 (AP)—A Syrian airways passenger plane exploded in flight about 15 miles from Aleppo today, killing all 19 persons aboard. It was the third major air disaster in the Mediterranean area in a week. All three have cost 121 lives.

Water Use Up, But Sources Down, East Boro Problem

By Paul Carlson

INCREASED water consumption and dwindling sources of supply have been posing problems for officials in East Stroudsburg, as well as for authorities in many other communities.

Moreover, borough leaders have been besieged with several complaints regarding the quality of the water — especially since the flood.

Sees Solution

However, the borough council now believes it will solve these problems for many years to come if it carries out the recommendations of the New York consulting firm of Buck, Seifert & Jost.

Basically, the engineers have recommended that the borough build a new filtration plant, as well as diversion works in the Michael Creek watershed, and also acquire necessary land.

Cost of the proposed improvements has been estimated at some $568,000.

Council has passed an ordinance boosting the water rates about 100 percent, since the consultants have determined the borough will have to raise an additional $59,400 from water sales annually to finance these improvements.

Actually, the rate hike approved by council reflects the determination of its members to keep the cost to consumers as low as possible, since the consultants estimated the proposed improvements would necessitate a hike of 165 percent.

Are They Necessary?

However, the question arises: Are the proposed improvements absolutely necessary at this time?

Buck, Seifert & Jost recalled that an earlier study showed the physical and chemical quality of the water did not meet the standards required for drinking water and for water used for household purposes.

The report also noted that tests showed the water was "susceptible" to problems of tastes and odors, and that filtration and chlorination was necessary to improve its bacterioligical quality.

John Wesley Film To Be Shown Sunday

"JOHN WESLEY," a feature-length color film portraying the life of the dynamic 18th Century evangelist and educator, will be shown at the Cherry Valley Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Rev. C. Clyde Levergood, pastor, said the film was produced by the Radio and Film Commission of the Methodist Church in cooperation with P. Arthur Rank. While it is being released only to Methodist churches during the initial period, the public is invited to see the film at the Cherry Valley Church.

Both secular and religious periodicals have acclaimed the film to be outstanding—pointing out that its photography is "superb," that it "sparkles with excellent portrayals," and that its message is both "inspiring and heart-warming."

Rescued From Fire

The film portrays how Wesley was miraculously rescued from a burning house at the age of five—plucked "as a brand from the burning." It also relates that Wesley thought his work as a missionary to the Indians in Georgia ended in failure, but then goes on to tell of his experience at Aldersgate when he felt his "heart strangely warmed."

After that experience, the film shows, Wesley faced the mobs unafraid and rode 250,000 miles on horseback, changing the masses of English people from a low state of moral degradation to sturdy and happy uprightness.

Although his "enthusiasm" was frowned upon by lethargic church leaders of his day, Wesley had a great appeal to the common man, he established schools, and clinics, and also sent lay preachers to evangelize the new world after the American Revolution.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture—Luke 16:1-31; 19:11-27

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THIS lesson Christ teaches us how we should use our God-given gifts, talents and abilities in an honorable manner, and our worldly possessions for the good of mankind, not only for ourselves.

Every normal person has some gift, talent and ability. Are we putting them to the best uses? Every teacher knows that some of her children are better equipped mentally for their studies than others, but some of the brightest are not always the best students. They don't apply themselves. It is those who are anxious to learn who make the most of their abilities.

So it is with older persons. Some work hard and efficiently all their lives; others loaf on the job, not giving the full service for which they are paid. In which category are we? There is much complaint in the modern world about the latter type.

The first parable Jesus told is rather puzzling. A certain steward had been cheating his master, and, hearing about it, the master demanded an accounting, threatening to dismiss the man if he were proven dishonest.

The man was worried about losing his job, so he thought up a scheme whereby he would be welcome at some homes the owners of which owed his master money. He called them in one by one, asked how much they owed his master, and from each he took payment for only a part of what he owed. Then the steward wrote a receipt for that amount and later destroyed the records. The odd part of it was that the master seemed to think it was a clever trick and commended the steward for it, making both of them unethical.

The Pharisees, who were fond of money, mocked our Lord for His sayings, and He said to them, "Ye are they that justify yourselves before men; but God knoweth your hearts; for that which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God."

As an object lesson to rich people who are not using their wealth to aid others or, in other words, are selfish and self-centered, Jesus told of the wealthy man who was dressed in "purple and fine linen," and "fared sumptuously every day." He is called Dives. At his gate lay a poor beggar covered with grievous sores. He was waiting until the rich man had finished his princely repast so that he might have the leftovers, for his food.

Jesus told that Lazarus died and was received into Abraham's bosom and the rich man died also. He was in torment in hell, and, seeing Abraham with Lazarus, he pleaded that the former beggar be allowed to get him some water to cool his tongue. Abraham told him that he had his good things in life and Lazarus had the evil things, so now their roles were reversed. Dives asked Abraham if his fathers and brothers might be warned so that they might avoid his fate, but Abraham told him that if they did not believe in Moses or the prophets they would not believe another messenger, even if he rose from the dead.

People in that day were looking for the kingdom of God to come immediately. Jesus told a story of a nobleman who went on a journey to a far country to accept a kingdom. Before he went he called his servants and gave them each a pound, telling them to use them until he came back. When he returned he sent for the servants and asked the first what he had done with the pound entrusted to him, and he said that he now had 10 pounds, for which the master commended him. The second said he had five pounds in place of his one, and was also praised as a faithful servant. But the third merely handed back the money given him, saying he knew his master was a hard man in a deal, so he was afraid to speculate with the money, but had kept it folded in a napkin to give back to the master.

The master was furious with the man, telling the others to take away the money he had, and give it to the man who had 10 pounds, for "unto every one which hath shall be given; and from him that hath not, even that he hath, shall be taken away from him."

If we forfeit our "pound" through out own sin and folly, we are the ones who lose . We are not asked to do the impossible—those things for which we have no talent or ability, but if we work at those things for which we have ability, honestly, diligently and helpfully, we shall surely have our reward, even if we do not gain great material riches. We will feel in our hearts and souls that we are worthy in God's sight, believing in Him and Jesus Christ.

Memory Verse—"He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much; and he that is unjust in the least is unjust also in much."—Luke 16:10.

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN!

A child's roller skates left on the stairs . . . a man deeply engrossed in his paper . . . one more step . . . fate closes in!

But it isn't fate. Just the careless, thoughtless preoccupation of humanity.

No religion can guarantee our safety from accidents like this one.

But the Christian Church offers man safety from greater perils. It teaches him the dangers inherent in his own impulses . . . it shows him his responsibility for the lives and faith of others . . . it stimulates his soul-deep yearning to know God . . . it assures him that life has eternal meaning through Jesus Christ.

Accidents will happen—but spiritual tragedy need not! For the eternal safety of all men, the careless, the thoughtless, the preoccupied: Christ died.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sale Of Unneeded Property Owned By U. S. Would Put Billion Dollars In Treasury

By direction of Congress, the General Services Administration of the Government now has turned in a second inventory of Uncle Sam's real estate holdings. These holdings are immense.

The Government owns in the 48 states as much land as there is in Alabama, the District of Columbia, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia — 408 million acres.

It owns more than 87 per cent of all Nevada, more than 70 per cent of all Utah, more than 65 per cent of all Idaho. And so on.

This doesn't count more than 55 million acres, mostly in Indian lands, which the Government controls "in trust." It doesn't count nearly 2½ million acres the Government leases. It doesn't count 366 million acres owned outside the United States.

What's Uncle doing with all this real estate?

Well, he has 178 million acres in grazing; 176 million acres in forests and wild life reserves, more than 20 million acres held by the military, nearly 15 million acres in parks. And so on.

Besides land, Uncle owns 384,916 buildings, with a gross floor area of 2,200,000,000 square feet.

All this land and structure, the General Services Administration says, cost the taxpayers 32 billion dollars. But included is a lot of land the Government always has owned—didn't have to buy it.

So, Mr. Taxpayer, that's where some of your money has gone.

Since the previous inventory (Dec. 31, 1953) Uncle Sam has acquired three million more acres. He did get rid of about a million square feet of floor space, but he spent more than two billion dollars on new property.

The Hoover Commission, in its 1955 reports, showed how Uncle Sam could save about 185 million dollars a year by managing all this property on a business-like basis. And if he would sell off unneeded property, he could put about a billion dollars in the Treasury, and get this real estate back on the tax rolls.

The Hoover Commission didn't delve into any policy questions, just efficiency. But does Uncle Sam belong in the grazing business? How about selling off some of that land to the people who use it?

What do you taxpayers-landholders say about it?

Thirty Years Service By Chief Arthur Swink Deserves Tribute From Community

Chief of Police Arthur Swink has announced his retirement as head of East Stroudsburg's police force effective March 1, after more than 30 years of service to the citizens of that borough.

Few of us realize how difficult a task it is to be a police officer, let alone chief of the department. There's a great deal of thankless effort expended in the post held so ably by Chief Swink for 30 years.

In his service there were times, and we speak with firsthand knowledge, when he was required to have the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job and the courage of David. Often these attributes were required singly, but there were many fantastic situations when he was required to exercise all three at one time.

Arthur Swink had these qualities when they were needed. Naturally, he was human enough to err at times, as we all do, but in the end that added to his stature.

Police, generally, are too often taken too much for granted by the public they serve.

But, pause, think a bit. Here is a man who has served his fellow citizens in a most difficult position for 30 years. Does he not deserve a tribute with his retirement?

We think he does. Our tribute is hereby extended to Chief of Police Swink with sincere wishes for a retirement filled with good health and happy days.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

There's Too Much Russia In Our Lives; Does Something To Gall Bladder, Liver

Many years ago, one of my editors complained that in one week, I had mentioned Russia 11 times. (I do not have the letter here, but that is my memory — maybe he said 12 or 13 times.) Of course, today, if you look at the news as it splatters in from all the world, Russia, Russian satellites, neutralists, etc., etc. compose the bulk of it except when Princess Margaret of England is rumored about.

Actually, there is too much Russia in our lives. It must do something to the gall bladder if not the liver. Maybe that is why Grace Kelly's betrothal to Grimaldi seems so important; at any rate, it is a relief, almost an escape from the Russians. I wonder if Monaco officially is on our side, on Khrushchev's side, or neutral. It does not belong to any of the great international bodies that are preparing to evade war and therefore may have no opinions on the subject. Certainly, Grace Kelly will make it as American as Hollywood, if that is American, which I understand it is becoming. In any event, it is much pleasanter to talk about Grimaldi than it is about Khrushchev, whose seven-hour speech I shall one day read out of sheer duty to you, gentle reader.

Ike's picture, playing golf, did me a world of good and I stopped thinking about the Russians. I do not play golf, so I do not know how much exertion is involved, but if he can play golf, I can walk Joe when I get out of here, and it stands to reason that there is more sense walking an intelligent dog than hitting a little white ball that cannot answer back even if it wanted to.

But I still cannot figure out what the picture showing Ike hitting this small ball proves. Each one has to have his own view of the matter. To Khrushchev it may mean that he might some day wangle an invitation to come to Washington to make a speech against Princess Margaret. He could say about her that she has not ended colonialism in Bermuda which is a wonderful place for Englishmen to go to who do not want to pay income taxes. Some of Khrushchev's speeches make that much sense.

But here I am going back to the Russians when I actually sat down to snub them, not to mention them at all. I shall therefore talk about candidates. All the Republican aspirants, except Bill Knowland, are now trying to give the impression that they never aspired at all, that they got their names and pictures in the newspapers by accident, that none of them had press agents or managers, and now, after the Case fiasco, no one will have campaign funds anymore but will borrow for their campaign expenses from their wives. The Republicans all have alibis now that Ike can play golf.

The Democrats are not so fortunate. They have to have a candidate, if they are to remain a party and no matter how hard Mr. Stevenson tries, he is not making the grade because it is now clear that he has to run against Ike and that is not so pleasant, as those of us who supported Bob Taft discovered.

So soon it will be discovered that the Democrats might listen, after all, to that astute master of the fine Italian hand, Carmine DeSapio, who seems to be set on rebuilding the Democratic Party so that it does not become a Socialist Party in 1960. The real fight will come in 1960 as all the ambitious young men realize. He, Carmine, will have his hands full, shooing off the Americans for Democratic Action, the National Committee for an Effective Congress, the Fund for the Republic and other agencies designed to steal his party for the Socialists.

On that subject, I shall have to read Khrushchev's seven-hour speech, because he seems to have had a lot of unorthodox things to say about the Socialists, he not hating them as much as Lenin or Stalin did. Maybe that is how he intends to conquer the United States without war which is what he said he intends to do. So I shall have to read the whole seven-hour speech to find out if he reall ysaid it.

Ike's Return To Golf

(The scene is the Georgia golf links. The President is seeking advice from a golf pro.)

"I'm away off form. What am I doing?"

"For one thing you're standing too close to your foreign and domestic problems."

"I keep topping the ball."

"Yes. I notice as you go into your backswing you are gripping the Middle East situation. Hold it more loosely."

Ike goes into his swing and asks, "How's this?"

"You are too tense, perhaps from the matter of those tanks for Saudi Arabia. Bend your knees as you address the ball. Your right knee is okay but your left knee still shows the influence of that trouble over the natural gas bill. Try it again."

"Look! I'm still slicing!"

"That's because you are not dragging the club back on a low plane and keeping your mind on your vacation. You are lifting it straight up into the air, probably under the influence of Stevenson's last speech, and lunging at the ball as if you were signing a veto."

"When I take my stance I relax by thinking I am miles away from Washington and politics, but half way back in my swing I seem to be in the White House, and at the top of it I am in another crisis of some sort at home or abroad."

"Now take it easy and keep your eye on the quail . . . I mean the ball."

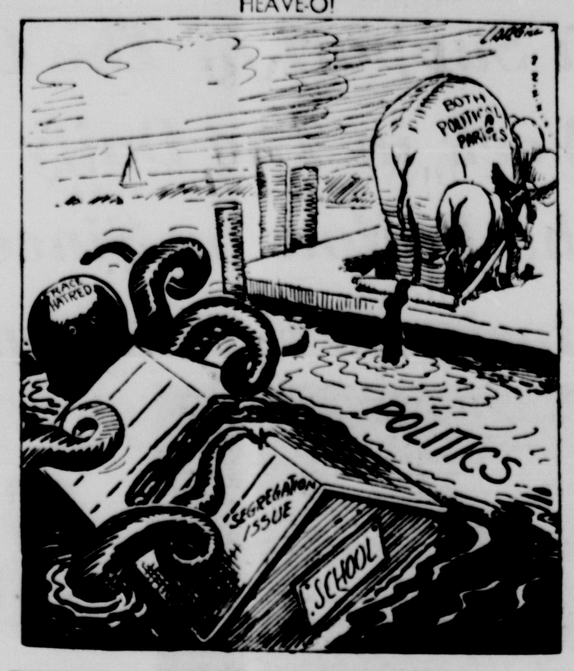

"Speaking of quail I got one bird in two under par yesterday. I would have had another but the bird stopped rolling a foot from the cup."

"Now we're both mixed up."

"Oh, well, let's give it up for now. I guess I'll go quail shooting. Will you look at my gun and see if it's got the right loft or whether I should change to a number five rifle for better results in case of more news from Washington?"

Inside Washington

Dulles World Tour Regarded Of Highest Political Import

WASHINGTON—Politically speaking, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' world tour in March is the most important journey the far-roaming statesman has ever made.

Dulles; en route to or returning from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting in Karachi, Pakistan, will touch virtually all of the world's "danger zones"—including the Middle East, Formosa and Indonesia.

Republicans are hopeful that when he returns, the secretary can report to the nation that prospects for peace are at least as good this year as they were in 1956. Such a report is almost essential to the "peace and prosperity" theme on which the GOP bases its hope of retaining the White House.

An optimistic appraisal from Dulles is also needed, in the view of political strategists, to counter Democratic charges arising from the celebrated "brink of war" diplomacy Dulles outlined in a controversial magazine article.

Bed and Board—Less than one out of every 100 restaurants on the nation's highways and at vacation spots are good eating places, according to field reporters of the American Automobile association.

At a recent three-day conference, the reporters who check accommodations for the AAA declared the number of worthy eating spots for travelers is "appallingly small" percentage-wise.

They said that fewer than one per cent of all restaurants available for motorists can be recommended by the AAA. Their principal complaint of the nation's restaurant cooks: "They lack originality. They want to fry everything."

On overnight accommodations, the reporters had better news. They noted that chain operation of good motor courts is increasing, that more mid-town hotels are catering to the tourist than ever before, and new accommodations are emerging rapidly in most parts of the country.

California Showdown—Washington politicians say to keep a close watch on California's June 5 presidential primary. The real tip-off, they say, will be provided as to who gets the Democratic nomination for President.

These politicos say that if Adlai Stevenson wins the contest, he is almost a sure bet to get the nomination. However, if Senator Estes Kefauver tops the California voting, he has a good chance of heading the party ticket.

That is the reason why both Stevenson and Kefauver are going all-out in the drive to capture the California vote, which probably is the most important of any pre-November balloting this year.

The only other primary race figuring in the Democratic picture is Florida's May 29 preferential contest, but Florida doesn't carry the delegate strength that California will have at the Chicago convention.

Stevenson and Kefauver also clash in Minnesota's March 20 primary, but Stevenson is such an odds-on favorite that the vote will have little significance in the final determination of a Democratic presidential nominee.

Try and Stop Me

In her memoirs, the Italian Marchesa Stella Pitelleschi tells of the day the well-loved Monsignor Contini was hearing a confession. "I have stolen a pair of silver buckles," admitted the kneeling penitent.

"You must promise to return them," said the Monsignor, "or I cannot give you absolution."

"Won't you take them, Father?" proposed the penitent.

"Certainly not," said the Monsignor.

"But, Father, if the owner refuses to accept the buckles, may I keep them?"

"I suppose so," conceded the Monsignor. He then gave the penitent absolution, and sent him away jubilant. When he left the confessional, Monsignor Contini made a discovery. His own shoes were minus their silver buckles.

Impending SEATO Parley Already Hits Hot Water

Washington Feb. 25 — The impending conference of the southeast Asia defense alliance is already in hot water.

Although this SEATO parley doesn't convene until March 6 in Karachi, Pakistan, it is already confronted with two ominous situations which are so explosive that it's touch-and-go whether they can be kept in check until then.

These urgent backstage dilemmas are as follows:

Laos has asked the U.S., and the other seven SEATO allies, if they will provide military forces — ground troops and planes — to combat an anticipated Communist uprising this spring.

Cambodia has notified the SEATO powers that it no longer wants their protection against Communist aggression. Coming on the heels of Cambodia's recent signing of a friendship pact with Red China, this latest backstage development is, in effect, the final alignment with the neutralist bloc, headed by India.

Loas is not "demanding" SEATO military forces. This small country, wedged between Red-ruled North Vietnam and Cambodia, is not a member of SEATO, but is under its protection. For that purpose, Laos is receiving weapons from the U.S. and can ask for military forces to resist aggression. That's what the Laotian government has done "informally."

The Communist threat there is strong and urgent. Red guerrillas already control two northern provinces, and are being trained and armed in adjoining Communist Vietnam. All indications point to a planned and organized offensive in the spring, in the guise of a rebellion against the Laotian government.

It's the old story all over again of what has been tragically happening in Indochina in the past years.

Secretary of State Dulles, who heads the U.S. delegation to the SEATO conference, has notified Laos that its "inquiry" will be considered there. In the meanwhile, as a temporary expedient, the Defense Department is speeding up the delivery of weapons to Laos.

The big question is whether the Communists will wait for the SEATO parley. They may strike before it acts.

Laos reports an increasingly belligerent attitude by both the native guerrillas and the Communist regime in Northern Vietnam. The latter's radio in Hanoi is now openly threatening attacks against Laos. The Reds may be on the verge of launching the offensive they have been clearly mounting.

Officials of the State and Defense Departments are frankly baffled by the problem of Cambodia going completely neutralist.

It has been receiving U.S. military and economic aid, and Premier Prince Norodom Sihanouk professes continued cordiality to the West. But he has notified the U.S. and other SEATO allies that Cambodia no longer wants their military protection; thus, in effect, renouncing this alliance.

As if to leave no doubt of that, Cambodia is now giving asylum to political and religious foes of Premier Diem of South Vietnam. This is viewed as a distinctly "unfriendly" attitude.

Note: The eight SEATO allies are the U.S., Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan.

Good Tidings — Industrial and commercial building is now setting the pace in construction. Last month, the total of this type building was the highest in history. Acording to the Labor and Commerce Departments, there was more than $250,000,000 of commercial and industrial construction in January, a gain of 32 per cent over the same month in 1955 and a big offset to the lag in housing . . . The Hawaii Statehood Commission has published a booklet that is a best-seller in Washington. It is a handsomely-illustrated brochure titled THE STATE OF HAWAII, which is being widely read in the Capital.

Counter-Move — The Arab bloc is putting the U.S. squarely on the spot in selling any arms to Israel.

Directly countering Israel's request for some $50,000,000 in weapons, the Arabs have applied for more than $80,000,000 worth. Egypt, which is getting $80,000,000 in arms from Red Czechoslovakia, is asking for $20,000,000 of arms in this new maneuver.

Middle East requests for American arms have piled up so high that Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., has cabled ambassadors to "discourage" them.

He informed them the total of these applications is around $150,000,000. In addition to Egypt, they include Syria, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan and Libya. The request from Iraq poses a tough problem because that Arab country has joined the Bagdad Pact, in the face of strenuous opposition from Egypt and its allies.

Following a secret Pentagon meeting, Admiral Radford, head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, strongly recommended that arms shipments to Iraq not only be continued, but speeded up.

Warden's More Than Policemen

—by H. G. Heller

A look at a consolidated report of activities of the wardens of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission in 1955 discredits an old idea that the warden is just an outdoor policeman.

The report discloses, the commission announced that the 51 district wardens and the six division supervisors made 26,936 separate trips in the performance of their varied duties in the calendar year. These 57 field employes worked a grand total of 155,562 hours, which adds up to an average of 54.58 hours a week on the basis of a 50-week work year.

Total mileage traveled was not included, but the report indicated 12,070 trips, or 44.8 per cent of all trips, were undertaken in the course of stream patrol and law enforcement, and that this consumed 73,086 hours, or 47 per cent of their working time.

Some 2,461 trips were made to help stock fish in Pennsylvania's open waters, and these consumed 10,974 man-hours. Other activities shown in the record included:

1,366 meetings (sportsmen, service clubs, schools, etc.) were attended, the total for which required more than 6,761 hours, while some 2,203 trips were made in assisting and cooperating with the field force of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

The balance of 8,836 trips involved 121 fish removal missions; 112 stream surveys; 535 pollution investigations; 761 mine drainage inspections; 283 system channel changes; 222 dam draw downs; 138 farm pond inspections; 132 missions assisting Fish Commission biologists; 110 assisting land and water acquisition; 69 assistant to the Fish Commission construction engineers; 468 investigations of posted property; 10 assistants to fish hatchery personnel; 118 trips made in assisting Pennsylvania State Police, etc., and some 3,957 trips on miscellaneous matters necessary to the administration of Pennsylvania's public fishing program.

Disaster Insurance Would Save U. S. Money, Says Gillam

Testifies For Hotel Group At Hearing

THE FEDERAL Government is losing money because of a lack of disaster insurance, Clifford R. Gillam, manager of The Inn at Buck Hill Falls testified in Washington this week.

Gillam, in testimony before the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, was speaking on behalf of the American Hotel Association of which he is an officer .

"Our United States Government, through the Department of Treasury, and its Internal Revenue divisions, was the largest loser financially as a result of the (August 1955) flood," Gillam told the committee. ". . . The losses of scores of corporations in (Monroe) County and hundreds in this State and in Connecticut, plus the losses in the income of individuals . . . will run into the millions."

"If insurance had been available and carried, this loss by the Federal Treasury would have been greatly reduced," Gillam testified. "Undoubtedly the losses have been so great in some cases that the carryback and carry forward tax credit will be sufficient to wipe out all income taxes from 1953 to 1960."

What If Another Flood?

"What happens in such cases if there is another flood or similar disaster?" Gillam asked. "The only possible result would be that many of these companies would face financial ruin."

Discussing the effect of the flood in Monroe County, Gillam further testified:

". . . We are truly frightened over the fact that insurance underwriters, following an extensive study, are predicting more frequent recurrences of such floods than has been experienced heretofore. Parsons, Brinker, Hoffman, Hall and McDonald, an engineering firm, was employed to study probable recurrences.

"According to a recent news release based on the report: 'A grim forecast of future floods of even greater magnitude in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and New England was presented by a New York engineering firm in a recent survey prepared for the American Insurance Association.' Such a situation is surely deserving of Congressional attention," Gillam continued.

"On the other side of the picture, the U.S. Corps of Engineers has characterized the 1955 disaster as one which normally occurs only once in 500 years. Along the Brodhead's where at places the flood waters rose 30 feet in 30 minutes, the high water was two and one-half times any previously recorded level.

Not Available

"Property owners with dangerous water exposure, such as we have experienced, have endeavored to obtain flood insurance for 20 years or more, only to find that the coverage was not available.

"If such protection is inaugurated, premiums must necessarily be at a level commensurate with management's estimate of the risk involved. This unquestionably could be accomplished if the insurance carried could be spread over the country as a whole. . . However, we have misgivings over the proposal to limit the coverage to flood insurance. (Our members) expressed the belief that such (insurance) coverage should be broadened to include other forms of disaster such as tornadoes, earthquakes and hurricanes.

"I believe that generally hotel men would prefer that private insurance companies set up a disaster insurance program. But we freely admit that it might be necessary for some Federal reinsurance or underwriting particularly at the start of any such program.

"We believe that it is entirely possible that it may be necessary for our Government to initiate such an insurance program if one is ever to be established. And, after an experience of five or ten years, it should prove actuarially sound to underwrite such a program privately. In that case the insurance companies would be anxious to enter the field instead of being hesitant as they are now.

Pleads For Insurance

"As the spokesman for the American Hotel Association and the hotel industry as a whole, I plead for some type of disaster insurance and believe that a plan can be devised which will be mutually satisfactory to the carrier and to the insured," Gillam concluded.

The Senate committee is conducting special hearings on the feasibility and desirability of flood or overall disaster insurance. Sen. Fulbright, D-Ark., is chairman of the committee. On the day Gillam's testimony was heard, Sen. Lehman, D-Lib. N.Y., presided.

Sen. Lehman is the author of one bill (Senate Bill 3137) which provides for a study of other forms of national disaster insurance in addition to floods.

East Stroudsburg Council Attacks Water Problems

In connection with their latest report, the consultants took water samples on April 25, 1955, at each reservoir.

Pollution Found

"The results of the examinations showed evidence of pollution at each reservoir," the report continued, "the concentration of bacteria . . . being very high at lower reservoir."

"The presence of bacteria as shown by the total bacteria count in our weekly laboratory reports does not necessarily indicate harmful pollution," the consultants added, "but it is significant as an index of relative cleanliness."

Particularly high bacteria counts were shown consistently during last September, October and November, probably because of high organic content in the mains as an aftermath of the August 18 flood, the report indicated.

The consultants also noted there has, for the last five years, been increasing difficulty in maintaining the physical and chemical qualities of the water up to acceptable standards.

"Numerous complaints were received from consumers," the report continues. "Repeated flushing of mains brought only temporary improvement."

This situation is closely related to the taste and odor problem which occurs intermittently, especially in early summer with the growth of thick, black slimes in the stream beds of the watershed.

Treatment has been successful in controling green algae but it has had "little effect on the black slimes or in lessening the complaints," the study relates.

"A filtration plant is the only solution to assure a water of satisfactory quality," the consultants concluded. "The results obtained in our earlier reports and those discussed (in the latest study) justify such a conclusion, not alone from the standpoint of tastes and odors but also in improving the physical and chemical quality of the water and particularly in providing a main line of defense against water-borne disease."

The engineers said a filtration plant will permit effective treatment of tases and odors at all times, and that the filtered water will be uniformly clear, colorless, and of safe sanitary quality.

Iron, Manganese Reduced

"Iron and manganese will be reduced (and) the corrosiveness of the water will be corrected," the report went on. "The water delivered to consumers will be clear, palatable and soft."

The consultants have proposed a plant capacity of two million gallons a day.

"If future growth in water use parallels that during the past 15 years, this capacity should suffice to meet the needs for at least 10 years," the report continued.

"Further, it is suggested that in the future, when the capacity of the plant is approached, consideration should be given to installation of meters," the consultants added. "This probably would permit deferring enlargement of the plant another 15 years."

At a special meeting Thursday night, council agreed to ask Buck-Seifert & Jost to submit a contract for the preparation of plans and specifications for a filtration plant.

Heart Drive Solicitation Slated Monday

ON MONDAY the Monroe County Heart Fund drive will be conducted.

Volunteer workers from throughout the county are aiding in the drive. Mrs. Roy Peterson, Stroudsburg, is chairman.

The drive is being sponsored this year—for the third time—by the Stroudsburg Woman's Club. Members of the club were responsible for starting an official Monroe County Heart Committee.

No goal has been set for the drive. The fund finances research into the causes and treatment of heart and circulatory system diseases.

Distribution Of Funds

About 40 percent — or more — of the money collected stays in Monroe County for use in education programs on heart disease.

To further this program, the Heart Committee arranges speakers for any public service, high school or woman's organization wishing to hear a discussion of heart disease.

During the past year the local committee has carried on a wide education program.

Couple Hurt In Collision

MOUNT POCONO—A Philadelphia couple suffered injuries last night in an accident on slippery Route 611 a mile south of Mount Pocono.

John E. Trainor, 24, and his wife, Doris, 20, were thrown from their coupe when it skidded into a guard rail about 7 p. m. They were treated at the scene by Dr. E. T. Horn Jr., and Mrs. Trainor was later removed by ambulance to General Hospital.

Her injuries were listed as a fractured left shoulder, a severe laceration of the face and head, and bruises. Her husband suffered injuries of the left knee and thigh.

Trainor told Mount Pocono State Police he applied his brakes when he saw a car approaching on the highway. It skidded on the snow-covered roadway and skidded into the guard rail, throwing its two occupants to the highway.

The car apparently bounded back toward the center of the road, where it bumped the sedan driven by Edward Showles, 40, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Showles admitted he was part way over the divider, police said. Damages to his car were placed at $50 and to Trainor's, $300.

Thru-way Not Included On 'Bottleneck' Program

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24 (AP)—The State Highways Dept. today proposed a 75 million dollar program to rid some of the state's most heavily traveled routes of 15 "danger spots" and "traffic bottlenecks."

A report to Gov. Leader made clear that money for the proposed projects is not available. Joseph J. Lawler, highways secretary asked for permission to proceed with the program "on a stage construction basis" completing two or three jobs a year.

(Although the proposed limited access Thru-Way around the Stroudsburgs was said by top Highway Department officials to rate top priority on the State's road-building program, the Thru-Way was not listed among the 15 projects in the long-range program.

(Surveyors have been at work several weeks laying out a probable route for the Thru - Way and interchanges but no decision has been announced to call for bids for actual construction work. The proposed roadway would eliminate a number of traffic bottlenecks in and around the Stroudsburgs).

The program is the result of a request by the governor who asked Lawler to "check these danger spots from the standpoint of eliminating them or detouring truck traffic around them."

Work Started On Four

The governor sent the department a map indicating the scene of 17 fatalities in which steep grades and dangerous curves were contributing factors.

Lawler found that alternate routes are not available and that "extensive reconstruction is required in order to provide improved gradients which would not be classified as dangerous."

The department has already started work on four of the projects.

The biggest of the proposed jobs, to cost an estimated 15 millions, would take U. S. 30, the Lincoln Highway, around Coatesville and Downingtown. At present the highway is the main street of both communities.

One of the 15 projects calls for relocation of Route 31 which now goes through West Newton. The plans call for removal of 90 per cent of the truck traffic now going through the main street of town. It was at this site last year five persons were killed when a truck ran wild down a steep hill approaching the town.

Another of the proposed jobs would be relocation of Route 40 over Summit Mountain, long a traffic danger point. It would cost 10 millions.

Moosic St. Project

Other hazards listed by the department in its report to Leader: Route 307, Moosic St., Scranton, 1¾ millions estimated cost; Route 111, Violet Hill, York County, 12 millions; Route 8 and 62 at Franklin, Venango County, $1,700,000; U. S. 322 at Franklin, 1 million; Route 12 at Bethlehem, 7½ million; U. S. 30 at Gap, Lancaster and Chester Counties, 2½ millions; U. S. 30 at McConnellsburg, Fulton and Franklin Counties, 4 millions; Route 56 at Windber, Somerset and Bedford Counties, 2½ millions; U. S. 322 at Clarion, Clarion County, 6 millions; U. S. 422 at Kittanning, Armstrong County, 3 millions; Route 31 at Laurelville, Westmoreland and Fayette Counties, 1 million; U. S. 40 at Brownsville, Fayette and Washington Counties, 7 millions.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Put on your mittens — here comes a weekend, and with it the snow, sleet, or freezing rain. I certainly hope the first eight weekends of this year don't set a pattern for the rest. They've been miserable.

Even for working women who save their Saturdays for housework. There seems little point in cleaning windows just to see a dull gray day, small profit in dusting and polishing when the lane's too slippery for callers, anyway.

The youngsters, of course, don't seem to mind but the young ones track in mud and the older ones add a few grey hairs if they're a little late getting home with the car.

Well, griping never made the weather better so maybe we'd better bake a cake or clean bureau drawers—except there are times when even the positive approach can seem sort of nauseating.

I know — let's spend the weekend complaining, and get it out of our system for a whole week in advance. If we set the alarm early we might even get in enough nagging for week after next.

Those present were: Jeanne Borbridge, Alberta Bridge, Barbara Brinker, Elizabeth Clark, Barbara Hutchinson, Donna Jones, Stephanie Kintzel, Sandra Reese, Barbara Sieg, Judith Spangenburg, Nancy Smith, Joan Tippett, Jane Van Hosser, Carole Brady, Ruth Slidosky, and Hedwig Zehender. Judith Batzel was ill and unable to attend. Leaders present were Ruth Sieg, Jackie Provenza, and Mrs. Bill Sengle.

Mrs. Mimi Villa, committee chairman, was also present to assist with the meeting. Games were played and songs were sung and an enjoyable time was had by all.

Michelfelder Couple Plans Open House

Mr. and Mrs. William Michelfelder, of 169 North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, will be the guests of honor at an open house on Sunday afternoon at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Michelfelder, 437 North Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

The open house has been planned in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary and all of their friends are invited.

The Michelfelders were married in Lindley, N. Y., by Rev. A. R. Wagner in the Methodist parsonage. They drove to Lindley from their home in Tioga in a horse and carriage.

Mrs. Michelfelder, the former Mary R. Rarick, was born in Tioga, where her grandfather was music-master for many years. Mr. Michelfelder moved to Tioga with his family from Germany when he was seven months old.

During his youth he was a fireman in the tannery there and then became a broad silk weaver. The Michelfelders moved to Monroe County 44 years ago, and have taken part in many community affairs.

The family artistic talent in Mrs. Michelfelder's case took the form of art. She began painting about 10 years ago and since then took lessons from John Soble, and ever since has been a constant exhibitor in the Pocono Art Group shows and other art shows in the community.

Their former tea room on North Courtland Street has been changed to an art gallery where the works of many local artists are hung. Mrs. Michelfelder is also an active member of the Monroe County Garden Club and the Stroudsburg Woman's Club.

Mr. Michelfelder's hobbies are reading and baseball. He is an ardent Yankee fan and says that he doesn't "care who wins" as long as it's the Yankees.

They have one son, Ernest, one of the foremost organists of the community; a granddaughter, Marlene, a student at the St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing, and a grandson, Ernest Michelfelder Jr., a student at Stroudsburg High School, who was chosen to play with the State Band Festival this year.

The Wyckoff Shopper

In step with the times and two steps ahead of the season! That is the story of Franciscan Ware, which is now introducing a stunning new table ware design, "Autumn." What is autumn? It is a gay swirl of leaves on a creamy grey-flecked background . . . it is a windy day with movement in the graceful powder blue, brown, yellow and green fabric. It is a flair as modern as tomorrow in its silhouette. And if you'd like to plan your dinner service with Autumn in mind, you can purchase a 16 pc. starter set right now in our housewares department for 14.95. Franciscan ware, as you surely know, is oven ware as well as table china. It was designed for wear as well as looking well, and it is colorfast, thanks to its patented Color Seal process.

Would you like to be a Mousketeer? Or maybe I should ask, "Have you a little mousketeer in your home?" All America has gone mad over the television program that teaches youngsters the art of being gracious, and which is based on the cartoons of Walt Disney's beloved hero, Mickey Mouse. If your child is under the Mousketeer's spell, you can purchase his official equipment at Wyckoff's toy department. We have Mousketeer caps in brown and black, some with white and some with pink ears, and we have Mousketeer flashlights too. Senia Bachman, Alberta Yutz, and Florence Metzgar were modeling the caps yesterday as they sold pounds and pounds of those tasty Weston cookies. Don't know what would have happened had my Puddykins appeared on the scene. Cheese, it might have been fun!

Not to be outdone by McCall's magazine which is running the Duchess of Windsor's autobiography, Good Housekeeping is publishing Margaret Truman's life story. Miss Truman admits, rather ruefully, that when news of President Roosevelt's death came to her, she was deeply concerned about having to break a date with a new beau, and forget her romantic dreams of the lovely gown she was planning to wear. It was some time later that the actual importance of the news registered that Daddy was now President, and she was the First Daughter of the Land.

Just between us, I prefer Miss Truman's story to the Windsor story. It seems to be more open and frank . . . but then the Duchess' story is still in the background stage.

The Do-It-Yourself craze continues with two knocked down bits of furniture that customers find in our gift department and assemble themselves. One is a mahogany book rack, which slides together easily and is amazingly sturdy. The other is a natural-finish hardwood stool which comes wrapped in cellophane. The customer must slide the legs into the holes made to accommodate them, and that's that. Both sell for 1.00 . . . but what a sense of achievement they give the person who buys, assembles, and uses.

Board Accepts Resignation Of Parsons

NEWFOUNDLAND — The resignation of Edward Parsons, Greentown, for 24 years a member of local school boards, was accepted by the Green Township (Pike County) Board of Education.

Parsons, recently elected treasurer of Pike County, was forced to give up the local school post as well as the presidency of the Pike County Board of Education by virtue of election to the treasurer's office.

The Greene Township directors appointed Parsons' son, Edward Jr., a resident of Greentown employed as a teacher in the East Stroudsburg school system, to succeed his father on the five-man board.

The elder Parsons was first named to the Greene Township board in 1932 and has served continuously on that group and the Greene-Dreher and later, the Greene-Dreher-Sterling, joint boards. He was secretary of the Greene board at the time of his resignation.

He served nine years on the Pike County board, the last six as its president.

Leader Refusal Of Police Aid Increased Westinghouse Violence, Judge Asserts

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 24 (AP)—Judge Herman M. Rodgers told a state Senate investigating committee today that Gov. Leader "ahs in effect given sanctuary to violence" at two struck Westinghouse plants.

"There has been a breakdown of law and order, there has been a refusal to obey orders of the court," the president judge of Mercer County said. He added:

"I'm here today because I feel the Commonwealth officer's (Leader's) insistence to keep state police out of the area has a distinct tendency to increase violence."

Two-Day Probe

Testimony by Judge Rodgers and two union officials ended a two-day on-the-spot probe by the four-man committee of strike conditions at the Sharon and Greenville plants of Westinghouse Electric Corp., struck since Oct. 17 by the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

Bickering, heckling and verbal clashes among committee members marked portions of the hearing.

The committee, composed of two Republicans and two Democrats, made no recommendations immediately. It said a final report should be ready in two weeks.

Sen. Mahany, Republican representing Crawford and Mercer counties, said the group will reconvene in Harrisburg next week to talk with the state police commissioner, Col. Earl J. Henry, and possibly Gov. Leader.

"Soft Spot"

Eugene Dyll, president of IUE Local 617, said Westinghouse selected Sharon as a "soft spot" to start a back-to-work movement.

Henry Gunesch, business agent of Local 617, testified supervisors got orders to bring strike-breakers into the plant and run over the pickets."

Earlier, a Westinghouse vice president told the committee of violence allegedly suffered by non-strikers and of damage to 116 cars, and 123 homes. He said 22 persons were injured on the picket line.

The Senate committee today visited the Sharon plant, chatted with pickets and also conferred with Franklin L. Snyder, vice president and general manager at Sharon, and personnel on the job. Snyder testified yesterday.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Commonwealth today gave Westinghouse Electric Corp. or its 23,000 idled employes until March 5 to appeal a lockout ruling making the workers eligible for jobless benefits.

At the same time, Gov. Leader announced his support of the ruling which in effect says Westinghouse locked out its employes last Dec. 19 because the firm refused a binding arbitration suggestion made by Leader.

Richard Manheim To Serve As Organist For 'Everyman'

ALLENTOWN—Richard E. Manheim, of 59 S. Green St., East Stroudsburg, will serve as organist during the production of the medieval morality play, "Everyman," to be presented next Tuesday and Wednesday nights at Muhlenberg College.

Greatest of all surviving morality plays, "Everyman" depicts the struggle of the human spirit against death. In its time, "Everyman" was acted by townspeople on a primitive, cart-like stage in the open air, and was both played and received with the utmost religious reference. The Muhlenberg production of the powerful 14th century play will be staged in Egner Memorial Chapel on the campus.

A senior, Manheim is majoring in romance languages. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity. He also is on the staff of the "Weekly," the college newspaper; a member of the college band, Chapel Choir and the Jazz Society. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph E. Manheim, he prepared for college at East Stroudsburg High School and has served with the U. S. Army in Korea.

ANY TEAMS wishing to play in the Varsity "S" Invitation Basketball Tournament next week may still file application today by contacting Warren "Mag" Loney, tournament chairman, or Tom Somers, association president. There is no limit of teams for the tournament to be played on the Stroudsburg High School court. There is an entrance fee of $10 and all players must be eligible. A total of 11 awards will be made at the close of the tournament which may run as long as six days.

Danny Marvin, co-captain and center of the East Stroudsburg High basketball team, reportedly played the best basketball game of his career against Bangor on Thursday night. The win enabled East Stroudsburg to take over sole possession of third place in the Lehigh-Northampton League, a position the Cavaliers can maintain with a victory over Parkland in the final circuit tussle of the campaign.

The Pocono Mountains League has delayed its basketball playoffs one week in cooperation with the Varsity "S" Invitation Tournament. The basketball program being presented at all home games played by East Stroudsburg High is probably the best ever made available in this area. They are certainly the most colorful. Ray Steele, former East Stroudsburg High baseball and basketball star, leaves for spring training on Thursday, March 15. Ray is a member of the Kansas City farm system.

Pocono High School, champion of the Monroe County Basketball League, will attend the semi-final round of the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden on Thursday, March 22. The trip will be completely expense free for the players. Jack Goepfert, former basketball and football star at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will coach football at John Harris High, Harrisburg, next season. Jack turned out undefeated squads for the past two years at Hummelstown, a feat which earned him the promotion to John Harris.

Doug Schoonover has coached East Stroudsburg Junior High School to its last two basketball victories. Schoonover, one of the best young cage mentors in the business, led the Cavaliers in their last two outings due to the absence of Mike Evans, regular mentor. As mentioned earlier this week Evans was involved in an automobile accident right outside of Wilkes-Barre on Monday morning. East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg Junior High Schools close their season next Tuesday by playing each other on the former's court.

Mendy Rudolph, well known official in the National Basketball Association, was scheduled to officiate last Tuesday's ESSTC-Lock Haven basketball game, but for the second time this season sent a substitute. Mendy has become almost a fixture on the pro games televised each Saturday afternoon. Mendy worked his first college game at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in partnership with his well known father, Harry.

ESSTC used three different zone defenses against Lock Haven while earning an 84-80 verdict last Tuesday. Annandale State Farm School, New Jersey, finished its basketball season with 13 wins and five defeats. Annandale is coached by Joe Tichy, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and a resident of East Stroudsburg. Reports indicate that improvements will be made on the softball field at Stroudsburg Playground in time for the opening game of the season.

The Monroe County Softball League plans a big feed at its next meeting to be held at the Thomas P. Lambert Post on Thursday, March 8. "Chico" Genovese, a member of the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College junior varsity basketball squad, formerly played with Scranton Central High and appeared against Stroudsburg High. Bob Gall, Muhlenberg basketball star, and very well known in Monroe County, is averaging 16.8 points per game thus far this season.

Denny Roth, former cage standout for Lehighton High, is averaging 10.8 markers a game for the Mules. John Kuptce, head basketball coach at Stroudsburg High, will undergo a physical examination in Philadelphia at the close of the present campaign. The appearance of Ronnie Davis, Tobyhanna Township, as junior varsity All-Star mentor last night was reportedly his last. Ronnie planned to quit active coaching the moment last night's contest came to a close.

Pocono Battles From Behind To Sink All-Stars, 65-63

Peduto's Shot Saves Day For Champion

POCONO HIGH waged a terrific uphill fight to capture its 11th straight basketball victory of the season last night by battling from behind in the fading seconds to grab a heart stopping 65-63 decision from the Monroe County League All-Stars. The battle royal took place before a capacity crowd in the East Stroudsburg High School gymnasium.

The regular season king, troubled throughout the game and trailing by as many as 12 points, finished in championship style to wrap up its season with victory.

Pocono, 12 points off the pace in the second stanza, and nine points behind in the third quarter, scrambled from behind on the great play of Ronnie Martinell and a pair of sensational field goals by Jim Smiley and Pat Peduto, just when the cause appeared lost.

The All-Stars threw up a tight zone defense and were terrifically tough on the boards, while dominating the game for the first three periods.

Coach Don Wismer, pulling strings like a puppeteer, got all the mileage possible out of the Stars as they led 22-14 at the end of the first quarter and 31-28 at the halfway mark, even though Pocono rallied in the late moments of the second period to earn a 14-9 nod in that stanza.

The Stars opened a nine-point bulge early in the third quarter, but Pocono came back strong as each club picked up 16 points and the Stars entered the home stretch on the long end of a 47-44 advantage. Jim "Sticks" Wagner's field goal gave Pocono the lead late in the third round, 44-43. It was Pocono's first lead.

Jim Smiley dropped a foul shot, Don Beck hit from the floor, Martinell converted a foul and then came back with a field goal as the Stars maintained a 49-48 edge. Beck drove for a two-pointer, but Martinell scored from a scramble in front of the bucket. Bob Sapp, one of the best performers on the court, hit from the flood and Harold "Shorty" Burkett converted a pair of foul shots to give the Stars a 55-50 lead with five minutes and 50 seconds remaining in the contest.

Winning Shot

Martinell, Pocono's life saver, came to the front with a field goal and foul shot and Peduto hit from in front of the cords to tie the game at 55-55, with five minutes and 10 seconds still to be played.

Sapp converted a foul, but Farley Peechatka "zipped" from 10 feet out and Peduto dropped one from underneath and Pocono drove into a 59-56 advantage with three minutes and 10 seconds remaining. Sapp converted a foul shot, but it was matched by Martinell.

Beck found the range on one of his patented driving layups and Farley Peechatka converted from the foul line. But, Beck, the hard driving layup artist from Chestnuthill, knotted the count at 61-61 with two minutes still to be clicked off the clock.

Smiley, who had contented himself with back court work almost all night, drove under the basket like a runaway truck to tap in a rebound and put Pocono in front, 63-61, with one minute and 40 seconds still to be ticked off the clock.

Burkett hit from close range and the score was tied at 63-63, with one minute and 20 seconds still to be played. Pocono, controling the ball on both backboards in the fading moments, worked the ball down court, fed Peduto in the left corner and the senior court star made his last minute scholastic shot a never to be forgotten heave as he creased the nets and put Pocono in front, 65-63, with 40 seconds still to be played.

The Stars lost their scoring chance and Pocono froze the ball until the final whistle.

Martinell led the winning attack with 22 points, while Peduto accounted for 13 and Doug Neison, with a seven-for-ten performance from the foul line, finished with 11.

Sapp paced the All-Stars with 18.

Poconos held a 23-22 edge in field goals and each team converted 19 foul shots. Pocono tried 35 charity tosses and the All-Stars 28.

Discussion On Whether Or Not Pocono Set New Mark In Winning Two Games Occupies Fans

TWO CHIEF topics of conversation at last night's Monroe County League All-Star game were the weather and whether or not any one school had ever put its junior varsity and varsity club in the annual attraction before and whether both had won, as did Pocono last night.

The flowers worn by the Pocono varsity cheerleaders were gifts presented before the game.

Diane Casella is the littlest of little cheerleaders on the Pocono squad. She is five years old and starts school next year.

Ronnie Smith, Polk, was presented as a spectator and featured a sling on his broken collarbone. Ronnie would certainly have been playing if he hadn't broken his collarbone in a sleigh-riding accident.

Somebody pulled the plug out of the scoreboard in the second quarter, which added to the confusion to say the least.

The All-Stars wore the green Coolbaugh jerseys, but each wore the pants carrying their respective school colors.

Traffic was terrific in the various corridors leading to the exits during both the varsity and junior varsity games. A total of 61 youngsters passed through one corridor in the final period of the junior varsity contest.

It took 18 minutes to play the last four minutes of the junior varsity contest.

Jim Brimer, manager of the East Stroudsburg cage machine, was the official timer.

The junior varsity contest started approximately 40 minutes late. The game was officially announced for a 7 p.m. start, but the tickets were printed as 7:30 p.m.

Ten Teams Certain To Open Varsity 'S' Cage Tournament

A FIELD of 10 certain starters are ready to open hostilities in the second annual Varsity "S" Invitation Basketball Tournament to be played at Stroudsburg High school next week, it was announced last night by Warren "Mag" Loney, tournament chairman.

There is still a possibility that Gray's Chevrolet, an 11th club, may also play in the tournament.

The 10 certain starters are the Stroudsburg Poconos, Al Besecker's Diner, Rudy's Tavern, Scranton, Slatington, Palmerton Redwings, Oxford, N.J., Lions, Effort Diner, Saylorsburg and Newfoundland.

Deadline

A deadline of 4:30 p.m. today has been set for entering the tournament. Pairings for play, which gets underway on Monday, will be made at that time.

The tournament committee will meet at Community Jewelers at 4:30 p.m. to pair the clubs.

Any teams still interested in entering the tournament are urged to contact Loney or Tom Somers, association president, early today.

The entrance fee is $10 and most clubs have submitted their money.

Large Daily Expenses For Santee

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24 (AP)—Miler Wes Santee, barred from further amateur competition by the National AAU, was turning in daily expenses ranging from $25 to $38.50 while competing in West Coast meets last spring, it was learned today.

"He explained to us that he had to be a "good guy" and told us that he had to pick up the tab many times," said Carl Hansen of Oakland, National AAU president.

Hansen, who conducted the hearings in New York which led to Santee's lifetime disbarment, added that the former University of Kansas distances star's wife had "expenses" which amounted to $1,158 last year.

Limit

The AAU forbids athletes from collecting expense money for their families and has a $15 top daily expenses of competitors.

"We gave Santee every opportunity to clear himself and he couldn't," said Hansen. "All of us are sorry about what happened to him, but any time anyone tells me that a 23-year-old man, and a college graduate and a Marine at that, doesn't know what he's doing, I refuse to listen."

Santee, now on active duty with the Marines at Quantico, Va., worked out yesterday at the University of Pennsylvania. He said he planned to keep in shape "because I feel certain the AAU will see the light." He added that he hoped to be able to represent the United States in the Olympic Games next fall and "try once again to beat four minutes."

The lifetime disbarment from amateur athletics automatically bans Santee from the Olympics.

Santee said at Quantico today:

"My feeling is that the AAU officials are trying me in the newspapers with blasts that tell only their side of the story.

Temple Names Football Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24 (AP)—Temple University today appointed Pete Stevens head football coach—the first time an alumnus has held that post since 1925—and then promptly announced that its policy of sports deemphasis will continue undisturbed.

Stevens, former head coach at Ursinus College and one-time player with the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, has been the Owls' backfield coach since 1949, serving under three bosses—Ray Morrison, Al Kawal and Josh Cody, Temple's present athletic director.

Warriorettes To Meet Cheyney

GIRLS of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will be searching for their fourth basketball victory of the current campaign today when they entertain the Cheyney lassies at 3:30 p.m.

Coach Anne Venezia is expected to stick with the same lineup that has defeated Temple, Misericordia and Cheyney, while bowing to Ursinus and Misericordia.

This means that Lorraine Boyd, Carol Sue Underwood and Ellian Williams will handle the forward duties, while the guard section will be made up of Pat Zimmerman, Orphelia Ensor and Joyce Fuhrman.

The Warriorettes have games with Panzer, Gettysburg and Elizabethtown before closing their campaign.

Pocono Tops Junior Varsity Stars, 55-37

POCONO constructed a huge lead and then coasted to victory in the Junior Varsity Monroe County League All-Star basketball game last night, 55-37. The contest was played before a capacity crowd at East Stroudsburg High School.

The winning Pocono contingent led 38-11 at halftime and 44-16 at one point in the third quarter.

Streak

Last night's win was the 16th straight for Pocono, a team that went through the 15-game regular season without tasting defeat.

Pocono ran up a 21-14 edge in field goals and converted 13 of 38 foul shots. The All-Stars made good on nine of 22 foul shots.

Paul Frailey led the winning attack with 27 points, while Ken Borger was tops for the All-Stars with 12 counters.

Palaiamen At Home With Cheyney

EAST Stroudsburg State Teachers College will attempt to put three victories on a string for the first time this season today when the Warriors play host to the extremely popular Cheyney cagers on the Normal Hill court.

It will be the second meeting of the season for the two teams and junior varsity action is on the agenda for 7 p.m. The main event will take over the center of the stage at approximately 8:30 p.m.

ESSTC, playing its best ball of the season at the present time, is anxious to avenge an 83-80 loss at the hands of Cheyney earlier this month.

The Warriors will be led into battle by Dave "Kelly" McLaughlin, who has scored 397 points in 14 games for an average of 28.4 markers a contest.

Starters

Coach Jerry Palaia will also have the famed Charley German, Wilmont Smith, Jack Burke and Stroudsburg's own Guy "Cub" Possinger in the opening array of talent.

Steve Oliveri, Milk Sentelik, Hal Mihalik and Walt "Moose" Bjorn are also almost certain to see action.

Jim Parker, reportedly headed for the National Basketball Association next season, and little Clyde West, five-feet, four-inches of dynamite, will pace the visiting attack. Both are among the top scorers in the Philadelphia area.

ESSTC is sporting a record of five wins and nine defeats, while Cheyney has won 11 of 15 games this season.

The Warriors have upended West Chester, Montclair, Paterson, Trenton and Lock Haven, the latter by an 84-80 score. They dropped two decisions to Millersville and singletons to King's College, Wilkes, Scranton, Kutztown, Trenton, Panzer and Cheyney.

Castellani Gains Nod

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Staggered in the second round, Rocky Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., came from behind tonight to earn a unanimous 10-round decision over rugged Johnny Sullivan, 23, of England in a nationally televised bout at Madison Square Garden. Castellani weighed 159, Sullivan 161.

The usually cautious Castellani, a 12-5 favorite, won by gambling on right hand leads, something smart fighters seldom do. He nailed the strong Briton constantly with rights and that was the big difference between the two.

Scoring

Referee Barney Felix and Judge Frank Forbes each voted for Castellani by 6-3-1 while Judge Bert Grant had Rocky in front, 6-4. The Associated Press had Castellani ahead, 6-3-1.

The willing invader brought a roar from the slim crowd of about 3,000 in the second round when he nailed the 28-year old, fifth ranking middleweight contender with a right to the jaw.

Rocky's legs wobbled and he fell into a clinch with the aroused Sullivan. Rocky held on like a leech and Johnny couldn't follow up his advantage.

Wall Four Strokes Off Houston Pace

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 24 (AP)—Ted Kroll, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., knocked a stroke off par on four straight holes today to post a late 4-under-par 67 and tie little Jerry Barber for the lead at the halfway mark of the $30,000 Houston Open.

"I felt like I was cheating because I putted so well," Kroll said.

The 36-hole 137 by Kroll and Barber, the first round leader, left them one stroke in front of hometown favorite Jimmy Demaret and Jon Gustin, 23, a newcomer from Charlottesville, Va.

Barber dropped to a 70 today. Demaret and Gustin joined Kroll at 67.

Trailing

Joe Jiminez, Midlotsian, Ill., put a 70 beside his first round 69 for a 139. Trailing him by one stroke at 140 were Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., and Deen Wood, Liberty, Tex.

Cary Middlecoff, the strong pretournament favorite, was among the victims as the original field of 160 was cut to 90 pros and 10 amateurs for tomorrow's third round.

Middlecoff soared to an 80 yesterday but matched par 72 today for a 152.

Tommy Bolt, another favorite, barely escaped the cutoff with 76-73—149.

Seven players were tied at 141, three under par for the 7,122-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course. They were Tod Menefee, San Antonio, Tex., Jim Turnesa, Spring Valley, N.Y.; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.; George Bayer, Cincinnati; Jackie Burke Jr., Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.; Wesley Ellis, Rivervale, N.J.; and Elroy Martl, Houston. Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., was one of eight having 142.

Jackson Takes First Drill

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—Stealing a six-day march on Jackie Robinson, his third base rival who isn't due until March 1, Ransom Jackson joined his new Brooklyn teammates to day and immediately started hitting drives to the far reaches of leftfield.

New Bats

However, the "tape measure" drives of the Dodgers' first batting drill were provided by Carl Furillo, swinging his new 37-ounce bats for the first time.

Furillo, a former batting champ who hit .314 with 35-ounce clubs last season, hopes the heavier wood will give him more drives over the infield.

Tigers Sign New Pitcher

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers narrowed their unsigned list to four today with the signing of pitcher Pete Wojey, 34. Wojey performed last season at Montreal.

Outfielder Jim Delsing and pitcher Bob Tiefenauer signed yesterday.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Appreciate those little things oft forgotten in our rush to achieve the big ones. Heed "little" warnings, and supposedly "little" people who often are the better guides.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—May be tempted to turn away from regular duties, from obligations that carry over into free hours but which must richly be attended to nonetheless.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Many idling thoughts and doings to draw you away from issues that should be FIRSTS. Assemble carefully your affairs and the items you should be handling.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Don't dally taking care of odds and ends that clutter up a program when neglected. Avoid moody notions. Be your true self ALL day.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Several ways, means under today's aspects but some, while propitious for some people, might not be wisest for you. Look to your own interests; tend them conscientiously.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Your major planet Mercury in nil aspect but going to very favorable one soon, so build strength gradually but definitely, along some new lines, methods.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—More likely than not you will be offered fresh start at some work offering interesting prospects, but only if you keep up with improvements yourself.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Don't brood over past errors; go forward with new will, hope for the future. That is only way true improvements come about. Today will test your logic.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—It is no one's business to inject themselves into others' personal affairs, so preserve your privacy from busybodies. You are straightforward, good! But don't be too sharp.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Small matters may tend to irk. Don't YOU show irritability. Instead, smile, have a cheerful word for all. Both work and play are under excellent influences now.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Be careful you do not harm your private affairs with indiscreet remarks, nor hurt your standing by NOT being keen to overcome others' interferences. Promote YOUR assets.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—May be some who are not worthy of your company. Be firm about sidestepping them, and undesirable interests, too. Day will tempt along these lines; be cheerfully strong.

YOU BORN TODAY have a great number of credits to start with, but as with all, it is HOW STEADILY you apply these assets. Discretion, amiability, honesty are your gifts. Don't go against that intuition, but develop it carefully. Especially suited to anything where you can show artistry. Avoid lackadaisical ways or gloomy spells. Go forward with faith, constancy. Morey Grade Stages Indian Tribal Dance

By Leonard Randolph

THE CIRCLE OF parents in Room 9 at the Morey School building looked like anything but the doting elders at an annual Indian tribal dance.

For the day, though, their offspring had adopted the outward trappings of braves, warriors and squaws.

It was serious stuff. Third graders have a way of taking Indians into their own lives. Their betters, weaned on The Lone Ranger and Custer's Last Stand fall into the habit of thinking of an American Indian in terms of warpaint, bloodshed, colorful calendar illustrations and such unique language contributions as "Ugh!," "Heap big" or maybe, "Me, Injun. You, white man. Smoke peace pipe."

Yesterday between 2 and 3 p. m. there was little of the movie-TV stereotype in Room 9. The light-colored, calm faces in the room may not have looked much like Indians, but they sounded a lot more genuine than Tonto.

Six-Week Study

Under direction of their teacher, Mrs. Roger Stimson, the pupils were summing up what they had learned during an "American Indian Unit" study stretching over the past six-week period. Mrs. Stimson explained that part of third grade study in Pennsylvania must be devoted to "a culture other than our own." For Morey third graders, the Indian was it.

A boy named Elmer explained "how we got started." The class chanted a poem. A girl called Debbie told "where we found the answers." Most of them were found right in the classroom: from filmstrips, from books, from making exhibits of their own.

Then Jimmy read a brief resume of "Chief Eapthavie's Visit." It began: "A real Indian came to visit us . . ." and it described a talk given to the class by a full-blooded Indian from Arizona. The Indian now lives in Stroudsburg, works at a diner.

Wayne, a boy with a close crew-cut scalp and a red corduroy shirt as bright as any Indian feather, described the group's visit to a nearby taxidermy shop—one of the girls thought the leopard looked so real he must have been alive, she said.

Then the teacher got up from her chair, walked to the front of the room and adjusted a phonograph on a table. An electronic hum crept into the room. A needle scratched briefly on the outer rim of a record. Said Mrs. Stimson: "Now we'd like to show you a Shawnee hunting dance. Our interpretation, that is."

Parents Watch Intently

A group of boys and girls adjusted headdresses, figeted briefly in the front of the room (boys on one side, girls on the other), then danced haltingly toward each other. Nobody put his hand to his mouth and bellowed in the guttural baritone-soprano vocal wail so many people associate with any Indian dancing, war-type or peace-type. Several times during the course of the dance, imaginary bowstrings pulled taut and unseen arrows whooshed through the air. The row of parents sitting in the rear of the room watched intently, but didn't duck.

On a map-bulletin board at one side of the room boys and girls tacked up small signs showing where the Indians had lived. The map, said Steven, who was in charge of the game, had been made by Dean and he told Dean to stand up and take a bow. Dean did. But all it amounted to was a sharp rise and a sharper sit-down. So Steven told him to stand up again.

This time Dean turned around, full-face, bowed briefly to the crowd clenched his hands over his head like a prizefighter and flashed a broad "It was a tough fight, Ma" grin and sat down. The audience laughed.

The program moved on to its close with an enactment of a story called "Feather Planting Time" about a little girl named Blue Cornflower who left her parents' adobe house to go to school. Blue Cornflower remembered her family's customs and that was the moral, that everybody ought to treasure and honor what was good and fine in the tradition from which he came.

Mishaps Occur

There were a couple of mishaps. A feather manufactured out of the rear remnants of some domesticated turkey was not usable, a boy said, because it had broken. One or two paper headdresses sat a little rakishly atop the young, briskly-moving heads. A boy near the front of the room put his headdress on his chair then almost—but not quite—sat down on it.

In the back of the room a little girl with bright blond hair adjusted a big, brilliant red ribbon. Now and then a parent stifled a laugh with a quick hand. When it was all over, the adults gave the kids a rousing round of applause. Some of the kids joined in.

On a front table there was a wide assortment of the Indiancraft samples the children had made. Examples of pottery, weaving and such. From behind a headdress stationed on a table, the solemn, brown, aging face of Abraham Lincoln peered out into the room.

This was a part of the third grade, too. Along with all the other things that made up a vast and changing world.

For their parents the boys and girls in Room 9 had turned time back a few years to America's beginning. Most of the adults in the room looked a little wiser as well as amused when it was ended.

AN AMERICAN HERITAGE—the Indian's life and customs—was the central theme for third graders at Morey School yesterday. Class did dances, sang songs to a papoose, talked about what it had learned. Parents were invited to attend. (Staff Photo by Randolph)

Some Americans Have Lot To Learn About Foreigners

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

Americans as individuals and as a nation expect a fair return when they invest their money.

In dealing with foreign nations, the manner of expressing this expectancy has frequently caused the mutual aid program to purchase much ill will along with good will.

This was true in Britain during the first years after World War II. People expressed great appreciation for American aid, referred to American generosity, hated themselves for having to accept it, and eventually developed a certain amount of animosity toward the benefactor.

Sovereign Nation

There was a similar development in France, which reminded the United States officially on more than one occasion that France was a sovereign nation which did not have to jump through hoops just because her economic recovery was to the mutual advantage.

Some countries have flatly refused American aid because of strings attached, either feared or actual.

Lebanon, today, is refusing a loan offer from the American-dominated World Bank and considering a barter trade deal with Russia. She asks why she should have to take a loan when the United States has given Israel $400,000,000.

Political Subservience

India, on the other hand, has accepted hundreds of millions of dollars in a continuing aid program, while repeatedly protesting that this gives the United States no right to expect political subservience in return.

Some years ago several Britishers were telling me how they resented being considered poor relations by Americans. I tried to argue that this was not generally true; that, at least officially, the United States considered Britain worthy of her hire in a common cause, for which the money was being well spent. That made them even madder.

The situation in India today is serious. It is partly due to unofficial expressions to American criticism because India will not formally align herself with the West in the cold war.

Lesser Things Important

Lesser things, however, are frequently at the bottom of much of the resentment against the United States in smaller or weaker countries.

I have heard the charge of arrogance made against American administrators in many languages. I have heard of Americans carrying moneybags to many capitals, summoning proud and high officials to their hotel suites to do business instead of visiting government offices as those people do when they come to America.

I have heard that big, horn-blowing American cars dashing about in streets which have been pedestrian-dominated for centuries have done damage which diplomacy cannot repair. I have heard of supercilious attitudes toward local people and customs.

The United States apparently still has much to learn about conducting cold war of the new type.

Air Researchers Take Better Jobs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP) — Many top aeronautical researchers are quitting the government to take higher paying jobs in industry, the House Post Office Committee was told today.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, director of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, asked Congress to increase from 10 to 60 the number of NACA scientists who can be paid between $10,000 and $15,000 a year.

New York Butter

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—Butter barely steady. Receipts 749,461. Wholesale prices on bulk cartons (fresh): Creamery, 93 score AA 58¼-58½ cents; 92 score A 58-58¼; 90 score B 56¾-57½; 89 score C 57¼-57½.

Stock Market Advances To Year's High

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP) — The stock market advanced to a new high mark for the present year today in its fifth straight rise.

It currently is near its record high mark established last Sept. 23 just before President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack that sent the stock market into a major reaction.

The advance was a moderate affair, but all divisions were favored by good plus signs. Gains frequently ranged from 1 to around 2 points and some were larger. There was a fair share of minus signs, but they weren't concentrated.

The market's present advance has been ascribed to Wall Street hopes that President Eisenhower will run again.

Tape Lags

Prices were higher at the start with trading fast enough to force the tape to lag as much as two minutes in reporting transactions. The congestion was brief. Although the rise never was extensive, it held around its best until late in the day. A final flurry of trading helped to boost the daily total of transactions but didn't change the price picture very much.

Sales amounted to 2,890,000 shares, one of the larger totals of the year. Yesterday's volume was 2,900,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.00 at $179.90. Yesterday it was $1.30. The record high is $181.50.

The industrial component of the average was up $1.80, railroads gained 60 cents, and the utilities were up 20 cents.

The list was composed of 1,199 individual issues of which 653 were higher and 294 lower with 56 new highs and 6 new lows for 1955-56.

Ford Motor closed at 62½ bid and 62¾ offered, up ⅛ from yesterday's quotations in the over the counter market.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 920,000 shares as compared with 890,000 shares traded yesterday.
